

2004 annual report

Ecumenical Ministries of Oregon heeds God's call to bear faithful witness

The two words "faithful witness" speak volumes as to Ecumenical Ministries of Oregon's (EMO) mission in 2004. Our ministries and services make real our belief that God has called us to feed the hungry, house the homeless, care for the environment, create dialogue opportunities on critical moral and ethical issues, and advocate for justice. The ministries we engage in are rooted in the Scriptural mandate to love our neighbors and put our collective faith into action in ways that heal and provide hope.

As the 2004 Annual Report details, EMO's mission in 2004 was carried out and supported by thousands of people, congregations, denominations, businesses and foundations who gave generously of their time and financial resources. Major highlights include the launching of the capital campaign to finish-out the Rodney Page Community Ministry Center at the Patton Home, presenting the Collins Lecture featuring the Rev. Dr. Tony Campolo, creating an interfaith dialogue and support group in the Klamath Basin in the midst of ongoing conflicts related to natural resources and expanding the EMO Christians for Peace and Justice Advocacy Network. In 2004, we engaged more people from more places throughout the state, making us truly Ecumenical Ministries of Oregon.

While the 2004 Annual Report is a snapshot of the past, it is more importantly an invitation to future service. Our hope is that if you are already engaged in some aspect of EMO's mission, you will increase your commitment. If you are encountering EMO for the first time through this report and find some aspect of the mission that engages you, we hope that you will find a place within EMO to serve God's people. For at the end of the day, it is only through your support that we are collectively able to provide hope, change lives and serve the principles of love, compassion and justice that are essential aspects of God's creation.

Theological Education & Dialogue

EMO's Theological Education and Dialogue programs help congregations and individuals deepen their own faith and ecumenical commitments and better understand those of their neighbors. Each year, EMO offers workshops, discussions, lectures, presentations, celebrations and prayer vigils to celebrate Christian unity, foster interfaith relations and explore ethical and moral issues. EMO also sponsors the Collins Lectures, an annual event designed to provide an opportunity for clergy and laity to explore issues related to religion and social ethics.

EMO makes every effort to ensure accuracy. Please contact us at (503) 221-1054 if you notice an error.
